

Sergio F. Dettmer

Vice President of Risk Management
StoneX Financial Inc.

As Vice President of Risk Management at StoneX Financial Inc. — FCM Division, Sergio works from the company's Miami office. Sergio's career at StoneX spans more than 17 years.

He is recognized in the global financial sector as an experienced professional in the areas of risk management and financial derivatives — including OTC (over-the-counter) markets, forex (foreign exchange) markets and agricultural commodities with a focus on wheat, corn, soy complex and vegetable oils. Sergio is also a trusted educator.

Assisting StoneX clients in Latin America and Europe, Sergio conducts analyses of their operations to determine and evaluate market exposure, price sensitivity and financial risks arising from price fluctuations in global commodity markets. He also educates clients on how to effectively use financial derivatives to hedge their risk. As an invited speaker, Sergio has shared his analysis and insights with conference audiences in Mexico, Colombia, Chile, Spain, Germany, Morocco and other countries.

Prior to joining StoneX Financial Inc., Sergio oversaw the procurement of cereals and proteins for a poultry company in Mexico.