

Jim Stolze

Tech-entrepreneur, TEDx

Jim Stolze is a tech-entrepreneur and a prominent figure in the European startup scene. In 2009, he was approached by TED.com to become one of its 12 worldwide ambassadors.

Between then and 2016, he was the driving force behind TEDxAmsterdam and many other TEDx events in Europe, the Middle East and the Caribbean.

An alumnus from the prestigious Singularity University (California), he is a thought-leader and changemaker in the field of exponential technologies.

Since 2017, he has focused on Artificial Intelligence (AI). With his platform Aigency, he connects algorithms from PhD's and start-ups to datasets and challenges from big corporates. This initiative was labeled by the media as "the world's first employment agency for artificial intelligence".